INTRODUCTION

[1] The power vested in a municipality to impose rates on a property within its area of jurisdiction is reflected in Section 229(1)(a) of the Constitution of the Republic of South Africa, Act 108 of 1996. However, Section 229(2) of the Constitution stipulates that the power of a municipality to impose rates on property –

- (a) may not be exercised in a way that materially and unreasonably prejudices national economic policies, economic activities across municipal boundaries or the national mobility of goods, services, capital or labour; and
- (b) may be regulated by national legislation.

[2] The national legislation referred to in Section 229(b) of the Constitution is the recently promulgated Local Government: Municipal Property Rates Act, Act 6 of 2004 (hereinafter referred to as the Property Rates Act). In addition, the Minister of Provincial and Local Government has published regulations in terms of the Property Rates Act in the Government Gazette dated 13 October 2005.

[3] The preamble to the Property Rates Act sets out the parameters on which the legislation is based:

- The Constitution entitles municipalities to impose rates on property within their areas of jurisdiction, subject to regulation in terms of national legislation;
- The Constitution enjoins local government to be developmental in nature in addressing the service delivery priorities of our country and promoting the economic and financial viability of our municipalities;
- There is a need to provide local government with access to a sufficient and buoyant source of revenue necessary to fulfill its developmental responsibilities;
- Income derived from property rates is a critical source of revenue for municipalities to achieve their constitutional objectives, especially in areas that have been neglected in the past due to racially discriminatory laws; and

- It is essential that municipalities exercise their power to impose property rates within a statutory framework that not only enhances certainty, uniformity and simplicity across the community but also takes into account historical imbalances and the rates burden on the poor.

PROPERTY RATES POLICY PERSPECTIVES

Legislative Framework

[8] Section 3(1) of the Property Rates Act stipulates that the Council of the Mandeni Municipality must adopt a policy that is consistent with the Act in the levying of rates on ratable property within the Municipality.

- [9] The property rates policy adopted by the Council of the Municipality takes effect on the effective date of the first valuation roll prepared by the Municipality in terms of the Property Rates Act.
- [10] In accordance with the stipulations of Section 16(2) of the Municipal Finance Management Act, Act 56 of 2003, the property rates policy must accompany the Municipality's budget for the financial year concerned when the budget is tabled in the Council for adoption.
- [11] In compliance with Section 5(1) of the Property Rates Act, the Council of the Municipality will annually review and, if necessary, amend the property rates policy. Any amendments to the property rates policy must accompany the Municipality's annual budget when it is tabled in the Council in terms of Section 16(2) of the Municipal Finance Management Act.

Principles Underlying the Property Rates Policy

[12] The property rates policy developed by the Municipality is based, inter alia, on the following principles:

- An equitable distribution of the property rates burden among the ratepayers within the Municipality. This is effected by the differential rating of the different categories of property.
- Access by the Municipality to an adequate source of revenue capable of addressing some of its developmental priorities.
- Due consideration of the ability of ratepayers within the Municipality to effect payment of property rates.

Community Participation

[13] The Council of the Municipality commits itself to a process of community participation, as required by Section 4(1)(a) of the Property Rates Act, in the development of the property rates policy that is aligned to that envisaged in Chapter 4 of the Municipal Systems Act, Act 32 of 2000, as amended.

[14] In addition to the requirements laid down in the legislation, the Municipality will engage stakeholders such as the Ratepayers' Association and the Farmers' Association directly in the consultation process. Further, use will be made of established community consultation structures such as the ward committee mechanism to ensure thorough consultation with regard to the property rates policy processes.

[15] Community participation in amendments to the property rates policy must be effected through the Municipality's annual budget process in terms of Section 22 and Section 23 of the Municipal Finance Management Act.

IMPLEMENTATION OF THE PROPERTY RATES POLICY

Levying of Rates

[16] Section 7(1) of the Property Rates Act requires that the Municipality must levy rates on all ratable property within its area of jurisdiction.

[17] In accordance with the specifications of Section 7(2) of the Property Rates Act, the Municipality will not levy rates on –

- Properties of which the Municipality is the owner;
- Public service infrastructure owned by a municipal entity;
- Properties referred to in paragraph (b) of the definition of property; or
- Properties in respect of which it is impossible or unreasonably difficult to establish a market value because of legally insecure tenure resulting from past racially discriminatory laws or practices.

[18] Specifically, the Municipality will not levy rates on the following properties:

- Properties specifically excluded in terms of Section 17 of the Property Rates Act;

| ~~□~~ Properties of which the Municipality is the owner;

| ~~E~~Special Residential properties;

Categories of Property

[19] The Council of the Municipality has resolved, in accordance with Section 8(1) of the Property Rates Act, to levy different rates for different categories of property based upon the use and ownership of the property concerned.

[20] In accordance with the provisions of Section 3 of the Property Rates Act, the following criteria have been used to determine the categories of property:

- The equitable distribution of the property rates burden within the Municipality;

- The need to provide the Municipality with access to a sufficient and buoyant source of revenue necessary to fulfill its developmental responsibilities;
- The need to encourage local economic development within the area of jurisdiction of the Municipality; and
- The need to consider the ability of ratepayers within the Municipality to effect payment of property rates.

[21] Categories of ratable property within the area of jurisdiction of the Municipality are listed hereunder: (sec 8 (2))

- Residential properties;
- Business and Commercial properties;
- Industrial properties;

- [23] The Council of the Municipality pledges itself to limit each annual increase in property rates as far as is practical to the increase in the consumer price index over the period of the preceding financial year, except when the approved integrated development plan of the Municipality provides for a greater increase.
- [24] The Council of the Municipality must, in imposing the rate per category of property in each financial year, take proper cognizance of the aggregate burden of rates and service charges on representative property owners in the various categories of property ownership.
- [25] A rate levied by the Municipality must be stated as an amount in the Rand on the market value of the property.
- [26] A rate on a property which is subject to a sectional title scheme must be levied on the individual sectional title units in the scheme, and not on the property as a whole.
- [27] The Municipality levies a property rate for the period of a financial year.

A rate lapses at the end of the financial year for which it was levied.

[28] A rate is levied by the Municipality by a resolution passed by the Council of the Municipality with a supporting vote of the majority of its members. The resolution levying the rates must be promulgated by publishing the resolution in the Provincial Gazette.

Multiple Use Properties

[29] The following criteria will apply to the rating of multiple use properties within the Municipality:

- Apportioning the market value of a property to the different purposes for which the property is used; and
- Applying the relevant rate Randage to each of the apportioned market values comprising the property.

[30] If the market value of a multiple use property cannot be apportioned, the property will form part of the category of properties for which it is predominantly used (dominant use) and rated in terms of that category.

Compulsory Phasing in of Certain Rates

[31] In accordance with Section 21 of the Property Rates Act, the Municipality is required to phase in a rate levied on newly ratable property over a period of three financial years. The phasing in discount on newly ratable property in terms of the Act must –
